OGDEN VALLEY BALLOON FESTIVAL OFFERS COMPLETE ARTS, CRAFTS, ENTERTAINMENT & FOOD TO FESTIVAL

International Foods to be featured.

(Eden, Utah) The 14th Annual Ogden Valley Balloon Festival in Eden is scheduled for August 15, 16 & 17. While the Balloon Launches and evening concerts are held on Wolf Creek Utah's south side playing fields, the arts, crafts and food booths, as well as continuous live entertainment on two stages, will be hosted at Wolf Mountain this year. "We are so happy Wolf Mountain is allowing us to take advantage of this wonderful location" commented Gladys Mundelius, Chairperson for the Arts, Crafts & Food Providers at the Festival. "The site offers a nice shaded area for the arts & crafts vendors, a perfect viewing area for all the live entertainment and a spacious area for our food vendors with a lovely hillside with picnic tables for diners to relax and enjoy the full medley of international foods. The views looking northeast over the Valley are just wonderful, and the visual connection to the balloon launch site adds a new synergy to this year's event. On the menu this year are the following types of foods: Asian, Thai, Peruvian and French, and of course American BBQ & Grilled Sandwiches. Snacks and treats such as roasted nuts, kettle corn, homemade root beer & ice cream and shaved ice will also be available so bring those appetites"

There will be lots of fun to be had as well. In addition to a wide selection of arts and crafts, the 3rd annual Plein Air art competition will be sponsored by Wilkerson Fine Art. Patrons can watch the artists, who will be scattered throughout the site and the Ogden Valley, as they create their masterpieces in time for the 4 p.m. judging on Saturday. For kids of all ages, there will be inflatable games like the Bounce House Obstacle Course, Giant Slide, Bungee Run, Electric

Swings and Electric Jets, a Climbing Wall, Train ride and more. Rounding out the offerings will be the Antique Car show. Activities at Wolf Mountain are scheduled as follows:
